GRANDCHILDREN OF THE PASSENGERS ON THE MAYFLOWER

*By Algernon A. Aspinwall, Washington, D. C.

(Copyright, 1922)

In an article contributed by the writer bearing the above title, which appeared in the Quarterly, 1915-1916, the children and grandchildren of twenty-two of the passengers on the Mayflower were given. It was then believed that these twenty-two persons, aside from William Mullins and John Tilley, whose only descendants were included in the above, were the only ones who married and left descendants.

It has since been discovered that still another passenger left descendants. This was Richard More. The Editor of the Mayflower Descendant, Mr. George Ernest Bowman, made this discovery and announced the same in a recent number of that magazine.

Richard More, a boy of about six years of age, came on the Mayflower in the family of Elder William Brewster. On October 20, 1636, he married at Plymouth, Mass., Christian Hunt, and not long afterwards removed to Salem, Mass., where he died between March 29, 1694, and April 30, 1696; having married, second, Jane, daughter of Richard Hollingsworth. She died at Salem, October 8, 1686, aged 55 years. His first wife, Christian, died at Salem, March 18, 1676, aged 60 years.

The gravestones of Richard More and both of his wives are still standing in the old Charter Street Cemetery at Salem.

In 1901, a photograph of the gravestone of Richard More was taken, and as stated by Mr. Bowman, this photograph is still in possession of the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants. At that time the inscription on the stone was as follows:

HERE
YE BODY OF CAPT
RICHARD MORE
AGED 84 YEARS

At some time subsequently to 1901, there has been added to the inscription on this stone, by whom it is not known, the following:

DIED 1692
A MAYFLOWER
PILGRIM

The original letters on the stone were also re-cut. This addition was not only unwarranted but is also incorrect.

Richard More is known to have been living as late as March 29, 1694, and to have been deceased April 30, 1696. Mr. Bowman clearly shows this in an article in Vol. 22 of the Mayflower Descendant.

Following are given the children and grandchildren of Richard More, as far as the writer has as yet had the opportunity to secure them, with the addition of some of the great grandchildren:

Note. In the family of Joseph[2] (John[1]) Alden, see page 37, Quarterly of October, 1915, the following children, believed to be the children of Joseph, were accidentally omitted:

Sarah[3] Alden, b—— m. Joseph Crossman.

Mary Alden, b.—— m. Samuel Allen.

Also since that publication it has been discoverered that Thomas and Ann[2] (Warren) Little, see page 22, Quarterly of July, 1916, had still another child—this was Abigail[3] Little, who maried Josiah Keene. They had one child, Josiah[4] Keene, who married Lydia Baker, and had eleven children—neither of the foregoing appear in the pamphlet issued by the "Bureau of Military and Civic Achievements"—(See Quarterly for January, 1922).

COREY (CORY), CLEAVES AND SMITH FAMILY LINES.

By Prof. Arthur Adams, Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

Giles Cory of Salem, 1649. His first wife was named Margaret, by whom he had a daughter Deliverance, born Aug. 5, 1658. He married, second, II April 1664, Mary Britz, who died Aug. 27, 1684, aged 63. His third wife, Martha was convicted and hanged for witchcraft in September, 1692. Giles Cory was also a victim of the delusion, and was pressed to death on Sept. 19, 1692, being the only person so executed in Massachusetts. He was about 77 years old, having been born in England about 1617 and had led an exemplary life. (See Longfellow's "Giles Corey" in N. E. Tragedies).

His will is printed in Vol. X, N. E. Hist. & Gen. Register, p. 32. He mentions his sons-in-law, William Cleaves and John Moulton, April 24, 1692. His daughter Martha married William Cleaves.

CLEAVES LINE

William Cleaves was born about 1650. He owned land in Lyman,

* See preceding article by Mr. Aspinwall.

York County, Maine, and may have been a kinsman of the well known George Cleaves. William Cleaves, however, lived and died in Beverly, Massachusetts. He married, first, Martha, daughter of Giles Corey, and second, her sister Margaret. Margaret (Corey) Cleaves survived her husband, and married, second, May 3, 1716, Jonathan Byles. Wm. Cleaves died Jan. 27, 1714-5.

Children by first wife:

1. John, born Oct. 11, 1676, died Sept. 14, 1753, Rec. gives d. Aug. 13, aged 77 and married, first, Jan. 26, 1699, Mercy Eaton, daughter of Joseph; second, Aug. 22, 1723, Rebecca Corning; third, Aug. 31, 1725, Rebecca Woodbury; fourth, Jane—mentioned in his will.
2. Elinor, b. 1678.
3. Martha, b. 1680.

All three bapt. July 24, 1681.

Children by second wife:

4. William, b. July 23, 1686.
5. Hannah, b. March 31, 1688.
6. Robert, b. July 21, 1689, son of William and Margaret.
7. Ebenezer, b. Oct. 13, 1691.
8. Benjamin, b. Oct. 23, 1693.

2. John Cleaves, son of William and Martha (Corey) Cleaves, was born in Beverly, Massachusetts, Oct. 11, 1676, and died Sept. 14 (or Aug. 13), 1753, as often the record and the tombstone differ. He married, first, June 26. 1699, Mercy, daughter of Joseph Eaton, of Beverly, of whose history nothing has been learned. He married, possibly 2d, Aug. 22, 1723, Rebecca Corning; 3rd. Aug. 31, 1725, Rebecca Woodbury. The wife mentioned in his will is Jane. John Cleaves is frequently given the title of Lieut. in Beverly records, for example in the distribution of his estate, but no record of military service has been found. The widow, Jane Cleaves, made a will in which she mentions negro slaves.

Children:

1. Martha, b. Oct. 20, 1703.
2. Robert, b. April 26, 1707.
3. Eleanor, b. June 8, 1709; m. Benjamin Lovett.
4. John, bapt. March 1, 1713.
5. John, bapt. June 12, 1715; went to Nansamond Co., Va.
6. William, b. March 27, 1720.

3. Robert Cleaves, born April 26, 1707, bought land of James Smith at Kennebunkport in Maine, Nov. 11, 1732. In the distribution of his father's estate in 1753, he signs a bond as Robert Cleeves of Arundel. He was a blacksmith. He married, first, Sarah, daughter of Stephen Harding, and second, Jan. 26, 1780, Mehitable Hall, a widow. An inventory of the estate of Robert Cleaves is found in the files of the York County Probate Court at Alfred, Maine, under date of April 27, 1784. The widow Mehitable is mentioned. The children seem to be John, James, Eaton, Stephen, and Mary. Bradbury in his history of Kennebunkport mentions the following childen:

1. John; m. 1st, Sarah Baxter, 2d, Abigail Bickford.
2. William; died in the army.
3. Stephen; m. Alice Perkins, dau. of Samuel.
4. Eaton; m. Miriam Smith, dau. of Daniel.
5. Israel; m. Margaret Patten.
6. Sarah; m. Jonathan Downing.
7. James, m. Mehitable Webber, Sept. 5, 1795.
8. Mehitable; m. Joshua Murphy.

4. Eaton Cleaves was born sometime subsequent to 1741, since his name does not appear in the 1757 militia list of Arundel. He married Miriam, dau. of Daniel and Hannah (Harding) Smith. Hannah Harding was a daughter of Stephen Harding, and a sister of Sarah Harding who married Robert Cleaves, father of Eaton. In other words, Eaton Cleaves and his wife Miriam Smith were cousins.

The will of Eaton Cleaves is dated

March 6, 1810, and was proved July 16, 1810. He mentions his son Daniel, to whom he gives half his land; his son Jonathan, to whom Daniel is to pay $200; his daughter Sarah Hilton, to whom he leaves $1; his son Joshua Cleaves' children, to whom he leaves $1; his son Ezekiel, to whom he gives a farm bought of John Hilton, and his son Eaton, to whom he gives half his real estate, and whom he makes sole executor.

5. Joshua Cleaves of Kennebunk, Me., married Hannah Wakefield, July 5, 1795. According to Mrs. Henry D. Moore's letter, he was drowned at sea in 1811, but, judging from his father's will, his death must have occurred before March, 1810, the date of the will. He doubtless suffered the fate of many hardy young men of the New England coast who go down to the sea in ships.

6. The only child known of Joshua Cleaves is the son Joshua, born August 12, 1797, who married October 20, 1819, Sukey or Susanna Haskell, born in Rochester, Mass., Feb. 15, 1799.

7. Thankful Haskell Cleaves, daughter of Joshua and Sukey (Haskell) Cleaves, born August 21, 1821, married Jan. 20, 1842, at Steuben, Maine, Thomas Jones Smith.

SMITH LINE

The earliest certain mention found of the John Smith, progenitor of the Smith family in which we are interested, is in connection with the estate of Ralph Ellenwood, of Beverly, (Salem Wills), proved 3 of 5 mo., 1674, the inventory was taken Jan. 30, 1673-4. He speaks of his wife Helen (called Elenor in the inventory), and makes her executor. Five sons are named: Ralph, John, Joseph, Benjamin, and David. The two daughters are Mary and Elizabeth. Evidently the daughter Mary was not yet married.

The date of birth of Mary Ellenwood, as given in Salem Vital Records, is 3 of 2 mo. 1664, so that at the time of her father's death, she was about ten years old. We also find her age given as 14 years in a deposition taken June 4, 1673 (Essex County Court Papers, Vol. 29, June-Nov., 1678, p. 15).

We find John Smith joining in an agreement of division of the Ellenwood land under date of April 17, 1695, in right of Mary, his wife—how long he had been married does not apppear. (Salem Deeds, Vol. II, p. 192).

Nov. 19, 1702, John Smith of Beverly, with consent of his wife, Mary, sells his house and lot in Beverly to Robert Hale for £100. His brother, Benjamin Ellenwood, is mentioned as an abutting property owner. (Salem Deeds, Vol. 15, p. 261).

In the Beverly Vital Records the births of the following children of John Smith and his wife Mary are recorded—since the first child was born in 1686, it is probable that they were married about 1685, when Mary was twenty-one years old. That she was a widow at the time is made probable by the fact that in the Beverly Church Record, the Smith children are baptised in right of their mother, Mary Herrick. We find that a John Smith and Mrs. Mary Herrick were married in 1784—intention published May 23, 1784 (Beverly Vital Records, Vol. 2, p. 159). Can this be in error for 1684?

1. Mary, b. Sept. 5, 1686, m.—— —— Jackson.
2. Jonathan, b. Sept. 24, 1688.
3. James, b. May 3, 1692, d. Sept. 9, 1763, aged 72.
4. Abigail, b. Feb. 10, 1693-4, m. Ebenezer Dunham.
5. Annes, b. Nov. 18, 1695, bapt. Nov. 24, 1695 (Ch. Rec. says dau. of John and Mary Herrick Smith) m. Ephraim Dunham.

John and Mary, bapt. April 3, 1698.

6. Hannah, bapt. 3 Apr., 1698, (dau. of John and Mary (Herrick) Smith, m. John Cox.
7. John, b. Feb., 1703, m. Deborah Barden in 1736. He d. Dec. 13, 1748, aged 46. She d. Jan. 9, 1801, aged 93. (Middleboro Church Record).
8. Melatiah, b. July 31, 1705, m. Gersham Cobb. (Middleboro Church Record).

9. Elizabeth, not married in 1727, named in dist. of Estate.

About—1702, John Smith removed from Beverly to Middleboro, in Plymouth County, Mass. We find of record at Plymouth, the following deed: John Doggett and Samuel Doget, both of Marshfield, sell to John Smith, late of Beverly, in the County of Essex, Marriner, for £55, lot No. 26, in the 26 Men's purchase on Whetstone Brook, containing 100 acres. The deed is dated Feb. 11, 1702-3. (Plymouth Deeds, Vol. 6, page 127).

Oct. 6, 1712, John Smith sold one-half of this lot to his son Jonathan.

According to the stone in the Old Cemetery, in Middleboro, John Smith died May 16, 1727, in his 69th year. He was born, therefore, about 1658. His widow Mary was appointed administrator July 3, 1727 (Plymouth Probate Records, Vol. 5, p. 266). Since he died intestate, the estate was divided among the heirs by agreement (Plymouth Wills, Vol. 12, p. 222.) This distribution mentions the following persons: the widow Mary; sons Jonathan, James, and John Smith; daughter Mary Jackson, widow, of Middleboro; daughter Abigail Donham and her husband, Ebenezer Donham, of Plymouth; daughter Annes Donham and her husband, Ephraim Donham, of Middleboro; daughter Hannah Cox and her husband, John Cox; dau. Melatiah Cobb and her husband, Gersham Cobb; and daughter Elizabeth Smith—all of Middleboro.

2. Jonathan Smith, b. Sept. 24, 1688, of Middleboro, m. 1st Susannah Thomas, in 1713. She died May 11, 1724, in her 30th year. He married, 2d, June 8, 1725, Sarah Churchill. She was born Feb. 10. 169[illegible], and died June 5, 1744. Jonathan Smith died Sept. 6, 1767, aged 79. He is called Captain on his Middleboro tombstone, and so frequently in the records. He must have married a third wife, for a wife Rhoda is mentioned in his will.

Children of Jonathan Smith and his first wife Susannah Thomas:

1. Samuel, b. Aug. 30, 1714.
2. Jonathan, Jr., b. Feb. 14, 1716.

Children by Sarah:

3. Susannah, b. Apr. 30, 1726.
4. Sarah, b. Jan. 16, 1728.
5. John, b. Feb. 13, 1730.
6. Mary, b. March 23, 1732.
7. Ebenezer, b. March 29, 1734.
8. Joseph, b. July 17, 1738.

March 8, 1754, Jonathan Smith conveyed to his son John Smith, Jr., a part of the 26 Men Purchase, that originally belonged to John and Samuel Doggett (Plymouth Deeds, Vol. 43, page 17).

There are of record in the Plymouth deeds conveyances joined in by the children of Jonathan Smith having to do with lands inherited from their respective grandparents, William Thomas (by will of Nov. 22, 1727), and John Churchill. For example: Thomas Redding and Sarah his wife, John Smith, Jr., Mary Smith, and Joseph Smith sell for £63 to Thomas Darling, Jr., 25 acres that belonged to "our honr'd grandfather John Churchill," deceased. Dated Jan. 23, 1759 (Plymouth Deeds, Vol. 58, page 68). Some recite title back to an even more remote ancestor, for example: Sept. 8, 1758, John Smith Thomas Redding and Sarah, his wife, Mary Smith, and Joseph Smith sell for £7 4 sh. to Mark Haskell their right and title to ¾ part of a lot that fell to William Pontus in a division (a 22-acre lot). The ¾ part belonged to their honored mother, Sarah Smith, deceased, and fell to them by heirship (Plymouth Deeds, Vol. 63, p. 16). The will of Jonathan Smith of Middleboro is dated March 12, 1765, and was proved Oct. 13, 1767 (Plymouth Wills, Vol. 19, page 541). He mentions his beloved wife Rhoda, giving her one-half of the house during her widowhood. He mentions his sons, Samuel, Jonathan, John, Benjamin, and Joseph; his daughters, Sarah Reading, Mary Smith, Abigail Smith, Lois Smith, and Thoda Smith. The son Joseph is made executor and residuary legatee; Rhoda is left £5 as long as she lives.

The will of the widow Rhoda was made Feb. 24, 1780 (Plymouth Wills, Vol. 25, page 488). From this it would be seen that Benjamin, Rhoda, and Lois were by the third wife. Lois had at this date (1780) married an Ellis.

3. John Smith, son of Jonathan Smith, was born Feb. 13, 1730. He married Anna Macomber in 1749 (intention published Aug. 12, 1749). She was born Jan. 2, 1726. John Smith died of smallpox, Nov. 14, 1777, in his 48th year.

Children of John Smith and Anna Macomber:

1. Nathaniel, b. Nov. 8, 1750.
2. John, b. Feb. 18, 1752.
3. Job b. Feb. 4, 1754.
4. Joshua b. Sept. 22, 1755.
5. Abia, b. Sept. 13, 1757.
6. Ezra, b. Jan. 3, 1761.
7. Anna, b. January 4, 1764.
8. Abia, b. Sept. 26, 1767.

Copied by Mrs. Amos. G. Draper

(The records of the Third Haven Meeting, so far as they are preserved, have been cop'ed, and are deposited in the Maryland Historical Society, Baltimore. They fill six volumes, and the references given below are to the volumes in the Copy, and not in the original record, which is at Easton. The following extracts were gathered for personal reasons; and the absence of any name in these extracts does not mean that it may not be in the record itself. As very little of this material has been published, it is contributed with the hope that other members of the Society may find assistance therefrom).

MAJOR THOMPSON MAXWELL, 1738-1815,

"A Revolutionary Patriot."

From the National Gazette, to the Editor.

"Happening accidentally to take up one of our morning papers a few days since, my attention was arrested by the following obituary and I have copied it from the National Gazette that I might pay my humble tribute also to a rare instance of modest and unassuming worth. Many years have elapsed since the writer, then a lad, became acquainted with the venerable gentleman whose demise it records, at that time travelling from Detroit to Albany, a witness in the trial of the late General Hull. * * Major Maxwell was one of the first settlers of the Western country and probably among the earliest inhabitants of Michigan Territory. His adventures with the Indians, and his services during the late war, would form, together with his early and revolutionary history, an interesting narrative; and it is to be regretted that his remarkable freedom from any ambition beyond that of service to his country and of discharging faithfully all the duties of social life, has deprived him of materials which might be used for that purpose. Should this brief notice meet the eye of the present Secretary of War, it will revive the recollection of one who has been associated with him in many scenes of trial and danger, and to whose memory no person is perhaps so well qualified to do justice as himself."

"From the Patriotic Journal."

The subjoined notice of death of MAJOR THOMPSON MAXWELL, a veteran soldier of three wars, has been handed to me by one of the few survivors of the Revolutionary War, published in the form in which it appears. * * * He served his country in more campaigns and has been present at more actions than any individual now living * * it was one feature of his character to seek the most dangerous and difficult service which he always faithfully performed, but never challenged the reward of distinction which would seem to have been his due. * * He seemed to have served his country from a principle of patriotism untainted with selfishness;

EARLIEST MISSOURI RECORDS (LOUISIANA).

By Mrs. Ida M. Schaaf (Mrs. Edward), St. Louis, Mo.

This book contains the marriages of non-catholics living in the District of Ste. Genevieve. They were married by the Catholic Priest, not as a Priest, by his authority from the King. After each record he has written:

"I have married them according to the ordinance of His Majesty in regard to the marriage of his non-catholic subjects."

In all cases they were required to promise to conform to the laws of the county and church and have their children baptized.

When the word "protestant" is used it means Episcopal.

The names are almost all written in French and in many instances are incorrectly spelled. I have written them in English.

NEW HAMPSHIRE REVOLUTIONARY PENSIONERS

By Mrs. Amos. G. Draper (Bell Merrill) Washington, D. C.

(Copyright by The National Genealogical Society)

The writer has been engaged for several years in abstracting the Government pension records of all men who served from New Hampshire during the Revolutionary period, or who lived in that State when they applied for pensions. During this research a number of errors in the official published list of 1835 have been discovered, and their importance is such that the readers of the QUARTERLY will find them of much value. The main portion of the work is for the New Hampshire Historical Society, but it will not be available in published form for some time.

Several years ago the official applications for pensions, which before had been tightly bound together, were arranged in flat files, combined with applications for Bounty land. The whole mass of manuscript was placed in large envelopes, one for each individual case, and alphabetically arranged. An article was published in the D. A. R. MAGAZINE* giving a detailed account of some of the most interesting curiosities found among the old files.

The names are arranged alphabetically, and where two men of the same name served, the cases are placed alphabetically according to the state from which the men served. Where men served from more than one state, that service is arranged, alphabetically, on the envelope. The numerals after a name refer to the old file number; and the letter "S" before the numeral stands for Survivor; the letter "W" for widow's pension; and "R" for rejected. A man might be rejected and yet have performed patriotic service, so that a searcher must make a study of the various laws to be able to work intelligently.

As early as August 26, 1776, pensions were given for those who were injured in service (lost a leg or arm), and this was increased from time to time until April 30, 1790, when the benefits of pensions were extended to those who served in the regular army. Before 1800 the privilege was extended to men who had served in the Indian or later wars, as well as those who had served in the Revolution. In 1816, especially, a law was passed for the benefit of Soldiers in the War of 1812; and anyone whose name is followed by "Acts Mil. est." in the List of 1835 should be stricken from the list, unless in his application he mentions also service performed during the Revolution.

March 18, 1818, the first general Pension law was passed. The chief requirements in that were nine months' continuous service in a company under the Continental establishment.

May 1, 1820, a law was passed requiring every pensioner to prove absolute indigence. Many names were dropped from the rolls on that account. In 1828 a law was passed for the benefit of those officers and men who had enlisted for the war and served until its close. Those men were paid through the Treasury Department, but many applications finally found their way into the Pension office. June 7, 1832, a law was passed allowing pensions for six months' service, not necessarily continuous, and allowing Militia as well as Continental service to be counted. In 1836 a law was passed for the benefit of widows of Revolutionary Pensioners whose marriage occurred previous to completion of military service; in 1838 one was passed allowing pensions for five years for those widows who had been married before 1794; in 1843 the time was extended one year; in 1844 for four years; and in 1848 life pensions were granted and the date of marriage extended to "before 1800." In 1853 all widows of Revolutionary soldiers whose husbands had been entitled to pensions no matter when they married, were granted pensions. These are the principal conditions of eligibility. As the application of a man who had been pensioned for many years was often placed in the Rejected list, if, after his death, his widow applied and she had been married too late, etc., one sees that "R" after a man's name does not necessarily mean that he rendered no service.

In 1835 the Secretary of War published, by order of Congress, a list of all men whose names had been placed on the Pension list, with date, and amount paid. These do not include the names of those men who applied after 1835; or of those whose widows applied, proving their husband's service, and received pensions. It does include, however, quite a number of men who served from other states than the one from which they applied.

When I began to abstract the N. H. pensions, I took first those who served from N. H. but after I had finished the letter "G," I was requested to include those who applied from the State, in order to obtain as many as possible of the N. H. men who were known to have enlisted in the neighboring state of Mass. I went back, therefore, to the beginning, and abstracted the applications of all those whose names appeared in the 1835 List, which had not been previously done. In this way a number of errors in service and in names have been found. A man is often credited in the list with Mass. service when he claimed Mass. and N. H. service. No note of those has been made, but when Martin DRURY is credited in the list with certain service which really was claimed and allowed to a Martin DEWEY, and no name Martin Drury is found in the files, a note has been made.

A.

Abbe, Ichabod, Cheshire Co. in 1832, should be Albee, Ichabod, widow Lona, Mass. W12192.

Abbot, David,* Hillsborough Co. in 1818, should be Abbot, Daniel, Mass. S45490.

Atherton, Joseph
and Avery, Nathaniel

are given as residents of Merrimack Co. in 1832. Nothing in their applications to indicate that they ever left Mass. from which state they enlisted.

There was a Rev. pensioner, named David Abbott (Cont. Mass.) S32626 but he enlisted and applied for pension from Mass. and apparently never lived in N. H.

B.

Bachelder, Benjamin, Cheshire Co. in 1818 (given Batchelder in Index to Vol. XXX of N. H. State Papers) should be Batchelor or Batcheller.

Bailey, Gordon, Cheshire Co. in 1818, should be Burley, Gordon, widow Elizabeth N. H. W23738.

Ballou, Rufus, Cheshire Co. in 1832, N. H. Militia, should be Ballou, Russell, widow Bebee, Vt. W701.

Barker, John. On page 386 of Vol. XXX, N. H. State Records, two pensioners of that name are given. One resided in Stoddard, Cheshire Co. was a Serg't. pensioner under Act. Mch. 18, 1818, dropped on account of property in 1820; pensioned under Act. May, 1828; died Mch. 15, 1834; leaving widow Sally. Mass. S45514.

The name of the other should be Barber, John, and is so given in the List of 1835. He resided in Lyman, Grafton Co. N. H. was private in Hazen's regiment; pensioned under Act. May, 1828; died in 1843, and his widow, Miriam, was also a pensioner. See Barber, John, widow Miriam, Cont. (N. H.) W21639.

Barnes, Jeremiah, Cheshire Co. in 1832 should be Barrus, Jeremiah, Cont., Mass. & N. H. S10345.

Barrett, Samuel. Two of this name are given in Grafton Co. in 1832, should be Barrett, Lemuel. One of them had a widow Anna (Mass. W21647). The other had a widow Phebe (Mass. W1358).

Both widows received pensions. The Lemuel with widow Anna, was a pensioner, himself, from Grafton Co. in 1832; the one with widow Phebe, was a pensioner under Act. Mch. 18, 1818, from Grafton Co.

Burrows, William, and Burrows, William, 2nd. are mentioned as of Hillsborough County in 1818. There is only one Pensioner of that name—Burrows, William Cont. & Mass. S45527. He applied April 8, 1818, while a resident of New Ipswich, Hillsborough Co. and stated that he was born Jan. 25, 1728, and served as a Lieut. during the Revolution. In 1820 he was living in New Ipswich, with his daughter. (No name given.)

The papers of the one called "Burrows, William 2nd." were probably returned to the Judge with the notice of suspension on account of property. They are not in the files.

NEW HAMPSHIRE REVOLUTIONARY PENSIONERS

Mrs. Amos G. Draper, one of our active members, who has also long been prominently connected with the Daughters of the American Revolution and other patriotic and historical organizations, has furnished for the QUARTERLY very valuable lists of Revolutionary pensioners. The first instalment appears upon page 28.

For several years Mrs. Draper has been abstracting from the Pension Office records the names, residence, military history, etc., of New Hamshire pensioners. This work is being done for the N. H. Historical Society. Incidental thereto very important and valuable lists of errors in the Government Lists of 1835 have been discovered, compiled and these are to be made accessible to our readers.

Inasmuch as the edition of the Quarterly is a limited one, and as the importance of the above noted material must lead to an increased sale of Quarterlies, our readers are urged to immediately begin an active campaign for additional subscriptions as also for additional members of the N. G. S.

BURKE'S PEERAGE

The World's Work, Nov. 1922, pp. 16, 17, contains an interesting article upon the matter of granting Peerages in England for monetary considerations.

"The record shows that previous to 1908 new peers were created in England at the rate of less than one a year. The liberal administration under Mr. Asquith jumped this average to 13¼ in a year, while Mr. Lloyd George has even beaten this record; during his six years as Prime Minister he has added to the British peerage at the rate of 18 a year. The result is that the House of Lords has 717 members and has become an unwieldy body. Peerages of course, are high honors, baronetcies and knighthoods have been distributed so freely that few Englishmen of importance seem to have escaped them."

AMONG OUR MEMBERS

Attention is directed to the advertisements of some of our active genealogical workers appearing upon the fourth page of the cover. These advertisements were accepted by a committee of which Miss Cora C. Curry, Librarian, 1020 Monroe St., N. W., is chairman, and it is felt that work may be safely entrusted to them, with prompt, reliable results. Further advertisemnts are solicited by the N. G. S. Quarterly.

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS, TRINITY CHURCH, STAUNTON COUNTY, VA.

Copied by Mrs. Eula K. Woodward, Washington, D. C.

(Copyright, 1922, By N. G. Society)

Augusta County and Frederick County were formed in 1738 by separation from Orange Co., Va. Until then the latter county was the frontier county extending to the Pacific Ocean. The first vestry was elected in 1746.*

Trinity Church records, in the Shenandoah Valley, west of the Blue Ridge Mountains, are important ones from a very old parish:—June, 1781, the Va. Assembly met there for sixteen days. The church yard is not now used as a burying ground. About thirty years ago the church was enlarged and the chancel covers a number of graves. Bones have also been found in the next block, but as the graves were unmarked, it was not known that it had been part of the old Trinity burying ground.

The following is a copy of the record upon all the stones:

INSTITUTE OF GENEALOGY

Mr. Francis Barnum Culver, Registrar General, N. S., Sons of American Revolution, and a valued member of our N. G. S., as also an extensive publisher and researcher in genealogical fields, recently wrote a letter which so closely follows the lines of recent thought of the editor that in part it is here reproduced:

"The interest in genealogy is so widespread and the demand for family data is so persistent and general that it becomes a matter of regret that we do not have more expert genealogists in the field. Genealogies are worse than worthless if they are inaccurate; and they are frequently inaccurate when the compiler, or the investigator, lacks the critical or analytical faculty, the judicial turn of mind which enables him or her to weigh the evidence 'pro and con,' with a singleness of purpose to differentiate positive facts from mere inferences. In other words, nothing should be propounded as a statement of fact unless it can be proved as it were before a Court of Law. I have seen published genealogies replete with errors, simply because the compiler was, by reason of natural carelessness and lack of scientific training, totally unfitted to the task his exuberant enthusiasm may have prompted him to assume. I would, therefore, be happy to hear of the founding of an INSTITUTE of GENEALOGY, to which only those would be admitted who have shown unusual aptitude and proficiency in this work, with officers and directors of superior mental acumen, and the power to confer the degree of "Certified Public Genealogist," with all the rights and privileges appertaining. This would gradually eliminate the irresponsible amateur who works for any fee he can get out of his client. It would substitute in his place the accredited (trained) proficient whose fees would be established according to a generally recognized standard."

The insertion of "trained" in the last sentence is important, and the project would naturally be further extended to include the proper American registry and certification of Coats of Arms, Crests, etc.

The editor found in the Maryland Historical Society a manuscript State archive with an attached memorandum saying that the portion marked was an error and should be published at some time as given by the writer of the memorandum. A photostat of the said record plainly showed an alteration of the record to bolster up the contention of the person making the memorandum attached. Upon publication of this record, as evidently given before alteration and as proven correct by certain other legal records, a certain genalogist wrote vigorous long letters of protest thus fixing responsibility for alteration of the said record.

The editor discovered an entrant into a National Patriotic Society upon the strength of the alleged ancestry through the celebrated, loyal Peter Miller, of Ephrata (Pa.) Community fame; and whose services for the Continental Congress were invaluable, yet who never married and who was known to have had no descendants. The wrong "Peter Miller" was taken upon insufficient proof.

These instances illustrate the great need for honest use of records, and the necessity for more than family tradition in genealogical activities. Let genealogists and genealogical societies adopt the plan of Dependable work by reliable genealogists, and at the same time take a determined stand for the preservation of National and State archives, bringing to justice the mutilators of such valuable materials wherever possib'e so to do. CARTER-LEWIS INSCRIPTION AT CASTLEMAN'S, VA.

Furnished by Miss Emma Curry, Washington, D. C.

Castleman's Ferry is three miles from Bluemont, in Clarke County. The Castleman estate borders on the Shenandoah River and consists of three farms, all of which have been in the Castleman family for a hundred years. The sister of George Washington lived here. Can anyone tell why this slab is found distant from the cemetery, and in such a detached location?

Inscription over the grave:

"In memory of Mrs. Betty Carter, relict of the late Charles Carter, Esq. She was born in the town of Fredericksburg on the 22nd day of February, 1765, and departed this life on Good Friday, the 9th of April, 1830, aged 65 years. She was the daughter of Mrs. Betty Lewis, only sister of General Washington. In the death of this amiable and pious lady the poor have lost a zealous friend and religion a bright example of redeeming faith.

Also in memory of Mrs. Sarah C. Peyton, Elizabeth W. and Edward Carter, children of Charles and Betty Carter, interred in this place.

Elias Brown, Fecit, Phila."

NEW HAMPSHIRE REVOLUTIONARY PENSIONERS OMITTED FROM ANY PRINTED LIST

Danford or Danforth, Joseph of Bradford, Mass., and Meredith, N. H.

Aug. 27, 1832, Joseph Danford of Meredith, N. H., aged 68 years, deposed that he was a member of the militia company of Thomas Stickney, and in July, 1780, enlisted from Bradford, Mass., where he had lived since his birth in Oct., 1763, and served for six months under Capt. Samuel Pierce, Col. Michael Jackson. James Choate and Thomas Carlton, both of Derry, N. H., testified to service with Danford, as stated. As the rolls showed only five months and thirteen days service his application was rejected. He appealed to Congress, and June 28, 1836, a bill in his favor was passed. As this was after the List of 1835 was compiled it could not appear in that book, neither did it appear in Vol. XXX of N. H. Pensioners.

Downs, Edward, of Stoughton, Mass., and Francestown, N. H.

March 3, 1841, Rhoda Bixby, of Francestown, N. H., aged 77 years, applied for a pension on account of the services of her first husband, Edward Downs, who was a resident of that part of Stoughton, which is now Canton, Mass., during the Revolution, and served as Sergeant, Ensign and Lieutenant at intervals from 1775 to 1782, the last service being performed after their marriage. She stated that they were married at Canton, March 9, 1780, her maiden name being Rhoda Billings; moved to Francestown, N. H., after the Revolution, where he died March 14, 1799; that she remained a widow until Jan., 1807, when she married Thomas Bixby of Francestown, who was also a Revolutionary soldier, and who died at Francestown January 3, 1827. (Official proof of the service of a Thomas Bixby of Francestown, N. H., is found in Vol. 3, Rev. Rolls of N. H.). A number of prominent people testified in her behalf, among them being Hon. John Endicott of Dedham, Mass., 77 years of age in 1841, son of Capt. James Endicott in whose company Downs served, and her claim was allowed. (See Downs, Bixby Rhoda, former widow of Mass. W15984.)

REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER WRONGFULLY ACCUSED

Joses Bucknam or Buckman, of Mason, N. H., in 1818, applied for a pension, while 57 years of age. He stated that he was the son of James Bucknam, and in July 1776, enlisted for the town of Medford, Mass., and served almost continuously from then until Feb., 1780, when he was taken prisoner and remained in prison until Dec., 1780.

In April, 1781, he went on board the Essex, but within two months was captured, taken to Ireland, then to England, where he was kept in prison until June, 1782.

In his account of his experiences during the Revolution, he describes his sufferings more particularly. This account, written in 1820, states that in Feb. his little band of scouts, 36 in all, were returning from an expedition when they were set on by the British, eighteen of them were killed or wounded, and the rest were seized. He was carried to New York, and "suffered everything but death." When he was exchanged in December, 1780, he was stranded in New York, but walked seventy miles to West Point to report. The company had been disbanded the previous March, and he could not get any pay without going back to N. Y. which he could not do as he had neither shoes nor stockings; but as he had been marked a deserter Col. Hull, who was then in command, wrote a discharge which is now on file in the Pension Office, dated Dec. 20, 1780, stating that although his time expired March 3, 1780, he was not discharged before because he had been a prisoner.

While he was in prison in England he was put in irons for forty days, because he refused to fight against his country. He was finally exchanged, and went on board a merchant vessel to earn a passage home. He was in the West Indies when peace was declared, and immediately shipped on a vessel bound for the States. When he landed in N. Y. he met some sailors who told him they had received their back pay, and advised him to hunt up his old paymaster. So he walked from New York to Boston, found his officer, but the books had been settled up and sent to N. Y. and as he had no money or the strength to return, he gave up the pay.

He states, also, in 1820, that he has in his family, a wife, Nabby, aged 52 years; and the following children: James, 15; William, 5; Eliza, 13; Lucretia, 11; and Mary, 9 years of age. (In 1823 he calls the child, Mary, "Nancy.")

His claim was allowed, and his name was placed on the roll, but the word "deserted" was never taken from his record in Mass. He died April 11, 1835, in Mason, N. H., and in 1838 his widow applied for a pension, and stated that she was married Sept. 19, 1786, at Stoneham, Mass., the maiden name being Nabby Hay. Her claim was allowed and also her various requests to move about; in 1840 being in Norfolk, Va., in 1848, in Pembroke Co., Me., in 1851, in Mason, N. H., with her daughter, and in 1854, in Maine again. As she did not apply for Bounty land she probably died before 1855 when the law was passed, allowing them. (See Bucknam or Buckman, Joses, Mass., and Sea Service, widow Nabby, W24680.)

ANNOUNCEMENT—DATE OF ISSUE

This issue, January, 1923, completes Volume XI of the QUARTERLY. To make the volumes terminate with the calendar year the future months of publication will be changed to March, June, September and December, instead of April, July, October and January. Preparations are being made for the early issuance of the March issue.

The recent vote of the membership of the N. G. Society was against an advance in the subscription price of this publication, hence it has become of the greatest importance for each subscriber to secure at least one other subscriber, thus at least doubling our subscription list and extending the work for which The National Genealogical Society and its QUARTERLY are conducted. Please act promptly upon this suggestion.

CORRECTION

On p. 33 and in Contents, cover, insert "Augusta" after Staunton, making the title read: "Tombstone Inscriptions, Trinity Church, Staunton, Augusta County, Va."

SOME OLD AMERICAN FAMILIES

The Youth's Companion, Vol. 97, No. 22, contains the following interesting article. Subscribers and readers will confer a favor by sending other similar instances to the editor of the QUARTERLY.

"Several weeks ago The Campanion, commenting on the French practice of conferring a sort of public distinction on families that have lived for more than a century on the same land, suggested that there probably were a good many families in the United States that would be entitled to a similar award if our government were equally interested in recognizing the value to the community of substantial citizens long settled on the land.

"Our article has called forth a great number of letters from our subscribers—so many in fact that we cannot undertake even to summarize all the interesting information that they contain. But we mean to call attention to some of the more remarkable instances of attachment to the land, which prove that, although century-old tenure may be less common here than in older countries where the opportunity for getting new and often better land does not so frequently present itself, there are still a considerable number of families who remain closely bound to the original homes of their ancestors.

"The longest tenure of which we have learned is not, as might be expected, on the soil either of the Virginia or of the Plymouth colony, but at Dover, New Hampshire. That venerable town was first settled in 1623 and in August is going to celebrate its third centennial with appropriate ceremonies. We do not know that there is any family holding land that was granted to it at that time, but on Dover Neck stands the Roberts homestead, on land granted soon after 1630 to Thomas Roberts and occupied today by Mr. Stephen Roberts of the eighth generation and a member or the present State legislature. An oak tree that was well grown when the land was taken up still stands on Mr. Robert's farm; it must be almost or quite five hundred years old. Our correspondent tells us there are other families in or near Dover that have held the same land for nearly three hundred years. Among them is another family descended from Thomas Roberts that has been settled in another part of Dover since 1680.

"Rowley, in Essex County, Massachusetts, sends us two remarkable instances. One is that of the Jewett family, members of which were among the first settlers of Rowley in 1638. The original farm is now owned by Deacon A. E. Jewett, whose son, living at home, is of the eleventh generation from the immigrant ancestor. Mr. Charles P. Mighill of the same town still owns the farm granted to his forefathers about 1639. Mr. Mighill is ninety-three years old.

"In North Marshfield, Massachusetts, the Hatch homestead, which was first occupied by William Hatch soon after 1635, is still owned by a descendant, Miss Alice Hatch.

"A Connecticut reader tells us that the Wadsworth farm at Farmington, originally taken up by John Wadsworth about 1640, is held by Mr. Adrian R. Wadsworth, the eighth in descent. Mr. Wadsworth has a son who also lives on the old estate.

"In Rhode Island the Mowry family has long been settled at Smithfield. We do not know the date of the first title, but it was certainly in the seventeenth century.

"At Sarah Post Office in Mathews County, Virginia, lives Mr. Chap Diggs, whose ancestor, John Diggs, patented in 1678 the land where his family still lives. In Charlotte County Mr. George S. Barnes can show a deed granted to his several times great-grandfather in 1761, the first year of the reign of George III. At McKenney in Dinwiddie County Mr. Robert T. Rives is the fifth in descent from the ancestor who got his title from the British crown before the Revolution. There must be even older families still settled in Virginia. Perhaps we shall hear about some of them later.

"On Long Island, particularly at the eastern end, there are said to be several farms that have never passed from the families of the original settlers. A farm at Wainscott, owned by Mr. John H. Hand, has been in the possession of that family since 1693. Mr. Hand is of the eighth generation from the first holder of the land; his grandson, living with him, is of the tenth. The Strongs and the Osborns have been established in the same neighborhood nearly or quite as long.

"There are several other instances that we can only mention briefly. Three Sanderson brothers still occupy land in Waltham, Massachusetts, that was granted to Jonathan Sanderson in 1682. The descendants of Gen. Isaac Shelby, one of the founders of Kentucky and the first governor of the state, still live at the old family homestead, 'Traveler's Rest,' on land first cultivated by Isaac Shelby in 1775. There are several families in Vermont of which we have knowledge that have lived undisturbed on land that they took up late in the eighteenth or early in the nineteenth century."*
